Mark McCarty elected to Wyoming Stock Growers Land Trust Board of Directors

January 20, 2023 - The Wyoming Stock Growers Land Trust announced today that Mark McCarty has been elected to the organization's Board of Directors.

A resident of Cody, WY, Mark manages the Two Dot Ranch and the Quarter Circle Eleven Ranch while also operating a ranch management and consulting company. Mark is no stranger to the Big Horn Basin as he was born and raised on his family's ranch in Cody. Mark ventured off to school at Northwest College in Powell, WY where he competed on the Livestock Judging Team. Following his time at Northwest College, Mark completed his education at Colorado State University, earning a Bachelor of Science in Ag Economics with an emphasis in Farm and Ranch Management.

Mark is a member of the Wyoming Stock Growers Association, the National Cattleman's Beef Association and served 5 years as the treasurer of the Cody Stampede Rodeo Board.

"Mark is a well-rounded businessman whose experience and familiarity with Wyoming and the ag community will be an asset to both the organization and to conserving working lands across the state," commented Wayne Fahsholtz, Board Chairman. "We are pleased to welcome Mark to the Wyoming Stock Growers Land Trust Board of Directors."

Members of the Board of Directors are responsible for establishing the organization's mission, determining strategic direction, setting policies to carry out the mission, and oversight of the organization's finances.

About the Wyoming Stock Growers Land Trust:

The Wyoming Stock Growers Land Trust is dedicated to conservation through ranching. Based in Cheyenne, the non-profit organization serves the entire state and is Wyoming's only agricultural land trust.
